BRINGING YEARS OF AVIATION EXPERIENCE TO OFFER AIR LOGISTICS SOLUTIONS

While land and ocean cargo transportation remain viable options, air freight transport is regarded as the quickest and most hassle-free means of transportation. Air freight has been a significant contributor to the development of the global economy, as it relies on the capability to transport valuable and superior quality products rapidly to consumers across the world. This mode of transport is particularly favorable for shipment of high-value goods such as pharmaceuticals, perishables, electronics, and other items. Having said that, Air Freight logistics solution providers must not only have the needed expertise when it comes to logistics, but also be deeply knowledgeable & experienced in airline operations. Furthermore, one should have a perfect balance in offering cost effective service to the clients and as well as good tonnage to airline partners. This creates a win-win situation for both the stakeholders.

Established in the year 2012, QuickBox constitutes a team of professionals and air cargo handling experts with a cumulative experience of more than four decades in the Airline industry. QuickBox has direct tie-ups with all the airlines in the Indian subcontinent, and has provided them with good tonnage. "For the last nine years, QuickBox has been successfully catering to its clients across industries including pharmaceuticals, automotive, and various perishable goods. Due to its competency in the field, the company has also been successfully handling supply chains for various clients including fortune 500 companies", says

Rohan Sharma, Co-Founder Director & COO at QuickBox.

"We have ground level understanding as to how the consignment moves in the airline sector. From how many holds does an aircraft have, which consignment can go in which hold, to how much weight can an airline pick up depending on the sector it's flying, we have in-depth experience to carry-out operations effectively. Currently, we are only focusing on Air Logistics services, catering to domestic clients. As a part of the company's future plans, we will be focusing on the overseas market by or before April 2022. Being an IATA accredited company, it also enables us to carry-out import and export across the world", says Narender Dabas, Co-Founder Director & CEO at QuickBox.

to it, QuickBox has been very adept at integrating technology to bring the needed innovation in the service delivery. For instance, the company's app and web software has been significantly aiding clients to track their load and pull the MIS at the time of their choice and convenience.

"Lastly, we all would really like to show our heartfelt gratitude to all stakeholders, including all clients and employees working within the company, whose combined experience has helped the company to stand where it is today; especially the ground and operations team who has worked tirelessly by offering 24x7 support. Recently, we were also bestowed with 'The Promising MSME Year 2021-2022' by Indian Achievers Award owing to the company's expertise in the sector. In the next two years, the firm aims to become one of India's top five air logistics companies in terms of services and absolute tonnage numbers.
